- Firing line markers of some sort should be set up at:
  - 3, 5, 10, 15, 20, and 25 meters
  - SOLIDLY CONFIRMED demarcations at 50 and 100 meters, out to 200 and 300 meters, if available

MINIMUM ACCEPTABLE

- 1 target stand /person up to 16 firing positions
- Depending on number of registrations, if it is not possible to have one target stand per person on the line, a FRESH 21" x 40" cardboard backer is needed for each shooting position to accommodate 2 full size B8s, stacked vertically.
- Ability to load vehicles and drive to the target line from distances beyond 100 meters.
  - Designated students, with pickups, will transport the class back and forth for target verification
  - TD1 will go out as far back as the range will allow, up to 300 meters
- Access to a staging area and/or vehicles able to park as close as 100 meters and/or space to park to the right/left of the range not so far from the 0 yard line
- BARRICADES
  - Any combination of stacked barrels, VTAC, USPSA walls, or similar modified barricades
  - NO LESS THAN a barricade per student for  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the class (i.e. if 15 students, then 10 barricades)
- STEEL (typically no steel until TD2)
  - Minimum rifle rated AR500 or better
  - C-zones or 12" gongs, or combination enough to accommodate for  $\frac{1}{2}$  of the class, or 6 pieces of steel, whichever is larger.
